finetext GmbH makes innovative changes

Released: 01.08.2005 at 3:59pm

finetext GmbH is strengthening its position in the 'Full Service' specialist translation branch. The extensive preparations for the implementation of the new service and price model, which was achieved through great dedication in the first half of the year 2005 from company employees in Hamburg, lead to the success hoped for.

In addition to the discount on normal line prices of translation services introduced in 2004 and the connected price offensive, finetext is planning to go one better in its service provision from August 1st. By waiving all additional charges for e.g. express, overnight, weekend or public holiday delivery, translation services at finetext GmbH can in the future be completed at a permanently cheaper rate.

This offer is not a limited special offer!

Companies can, therefore, considerably reduce their translation costs in the long run: In addition to cost advantages, generated by the use of the attractive and competitive translation tariff for specialist translations in all target languages, the client receives a final proof-reading of the translated text at no additional cost as part of the service. Due to the restructuring of the company and the new price model, translation services within different language combinations at finetext GmbH can now be obtained at a better rate, which previously allowed only a minimal or no discount.

"Good products can only be created through effective cooperation of clients with us as service providers", explains Manager Enrico Jochen. "But success also depends on the conduct of our freelance translators, who stand confident behind the new price model", he emphasises.

The new tariff provides companies with familiar high translation quality at reduced costs. Furthermore, finetext GmbH offers the flexibility to straightforwardly adapt to existing company infrastructure and the wishes of the clients. Comprehensive information with regard to tariffs and technical questions about project completion can be addressed in person, by email or by telephone. Likewise, finetext is happy to explain its service in detail.

finetext GmbH is a modern and innovative service company. The service spectrum includes translation and proof-reading on the one hand and classic interpreting services on the other.

Moreover, finetext GmbH offers translation expertise in quality control. Private and business clients all over the country can be served by over 2,500 native speaker specialist translators worldwide. Business clients are offered individual solutions based
